

Lead Follow-Up with AI Assistants and Drip Campaigns

Stay Consistent, Automate Your Messaging, and Close More Deals

📌 Introduction to Automated Follow-Up

This lesson introduces you to using AI assistants and drip campaigns to automate follow-up with seller leads. You'll learn how to stay top of mind, follow up consistently, and reduce manual work—especially if you're busy or working part-time.

By the end of this lesson, you'll know how to set up basic automation, what kind of messages to send, and how to use these tools to convert more leads into deals.

✅ What to Expect and How It Works

This lesson covers:

- What drip campaigns are and how they work
 - What AI assistants do in the follow-up process
 - Why most deals are lost from poor follow-up—and how to fix it
 - What you can automate and how to get started quickly
 - Time and cost involved in setting up your system
 - How to build a simple drip or AI sequence this week

📌 What Is Automated Follow-Up?

- Set it once, and your system sends texts or emails for you
 - Keeps your leads warm and reminds them who you are
 - Saves time and reduces the risk of forgetting follow-ups
 - 📌 Think of it as a 24/7 assistant that nurtures leads while you focus on high-value tasks

📌 What Is a Drip Campaign?

- A pre-scheduled series of messages (text, email, or voicemail)

- Used to stay in touch with unresponsive or warm leads
- Gentle reminders sent over time to build trust
 - 📌 Sellers who say "not now" may say "yes" later—with the right touchpoints

📌 What Are AI Assistants in Follow-Up?

- Tools that respond to leads with natural, human-like messaging
- Can answer common questions and book calls
- Keeps conversations alive even when you're offline
 - 📌 AI tools like REI Blackbook help you stay responsive without micromanaging

📌 Why Use Automation?

- Most deals are lost because investors stop too soon
- Consistent follow-up increases your conversion rate
- Makes you look professional, dependable, and easy to work with
 - 📌 It's not about spamming—it's about staying present and top-of-mind

📌 Time & Cost Investment

- Time to set up: 2–4 hours to write and schedule your messages
- Tools like REI Blackbook start at $97/month
- Launch Control and Smarter Contact: ~$100–$150/month
 - 📌 Most platforms offer free trials—test first, then commit

📌 What You Can Automate

- Instant "Thanks for reaching out" replies
- Follow-up nudges like "Still thinking about selling?"
- Value-based messages like market updates or selling tips
 - 📌 Even basic messages, sent consistently, can move a cold lead to warm

📌 How to Start (Even If You're New)

- Pick one lead group (e.g., cold or unresponsive leads)
- Write 3–5 short, friendly follow-up messages
- Load into your CRM or automation tool
- Keep tone casual, timing spaced out, and messages simple
 - 📌 Start small—refine as you go

📌 Final Tip: Follow-Up Wins Deals

- Most sellers need 5–12 touchpoints to make a decision
- Automation ensures you don't stop too early
- Follow-up builds trust—and trust closes deals
 - 📌 Don't lose leads because you went silent

🎯 Student Challenge – Build Your First Drip or AI Sequence

Your next step:

- Choose a group of cold or unresponsive leads
- Write 3–5 follow-up messages you'd normally send manually
- Load them into your CRM or AI assistant tool
- Send to 5–10 leads this week
- Track responses and refine your sequence
- Share what you learn in the Partner Driven community

Start simple. Let automation work for you—and watch your consistency turn into contracts.
